In Niceville!

February has its share of celebrations. There is Groundhog's Day, Super Bowl Sunday, Feed the Bird's Day, Oscar night, Lincoln's birthday, President's Day, and of course, Valentine's Day. There are lots of things to celebrate, and homeownership is one of them. Everyone wants to love where they live, but it doesn't always work out that way. Working with a real estate professional can help you avoid high dollar mistakes. More importantly, you have to love who you work with. The relationship you have with your Realtor can make or break a deal. Whether you are buying or selling, start or maintain a relationship with the best – and that is Janice Busovne. Happy Valentine's Day!
